Information

Page 1 of 5 Important Current DFAT Travel Advice

This advice is current for Mon, 5th November 2018.

Exercise a high degree of caution due to the high threat of terrorist attack. Be alert. Follow the instructions of local authorities. There have been several major terrorist attacks in France. Since 2015, over 200 people have been killed and hundreds injured. We continue to receive information terrorists may be planning further attacks. Attacks could occur at any time. Exercise particular caution around locations known to be possible terrorist targets. Expect increased security checks at borders, including the checking and recording of your identification. See Safety and security.

Protect your personal belongings, especially your passport. Petty crime, including bag snatching and pickpocketing, is a serious problem in tourist areas and on public transport. Demonstrations occur regularly in major cities around France. Avoid protests and public demonstrations. During the summer, forest fires can occur in the Mediterranean coast region. Monitor the media for up-to-date information and follow instructions from local authorities. See Natural disasters.

The above information is an edited excerpt of the Travel Advice Summary from The Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade. Travellers are encouraged to read the travel advice in full, subscribe to updates to this advice and to register their presence in France at www.smartraveller.gov.au.

Vaccinations and Health Precautions

Prior to Travelling to France Tourist Entry Requirements

France forms part of the Schengen Area. Australian ordinary passport holders are usually allowed to enter the Schengen Area for tourism or business purposes for up to 90 days in any 6 month period without a visa. The countries which make up the Schengen Area are Austria, Belgium, the Czech Republic, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Iceland, Italy, Latvia, Liechtenstein, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Malta, the Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Slovenia, the Slovak Republic, Spain, Sweden and Switzerland.

Travellers to the Schengen Area should ensure their passport is valid for at least six months beyond their intended stay and are recommended to be able to provide documentation confirming their ability to financially maintain themselves during their stay, travel insurance covering their period of stay as well as tickets and entry documents for their onward destination. Additional conditions may apply to minors. Travellers are recommended to contact a French mission on the details below for further information and to ensure their specific circumstances make them eligible to enter the Schengen Area without a visa.

The following information is intended as a guide only and in no way should it be used as a substitute for professional medical advice relative to a travellers individual needs and vaccination history. No guarantee is made as to its accuracy or thoroughness. For further information, please contact The Travel Doctor on 1300 658 844.

Depending on a travellers itinerary and activities, vaccination against hepatitis B may be considered when travelling to France. Tick-borne encephalitis is present throughout many areas in Europe (predominately in forested regions). Whilst no vaccine is available in Australia, travellers visiting risk areas and planning outdoor activities between May and September might consider vaccination once in Europe. Regardless of destination, all travellers should be up-to-date with their routine "background" vaccinations, including a recent annual influenza vaccination. Please consult a medical practitioner or contact The Travel Doctor for your specific risk to these preventable diseases and the appropriate avoidance measures.

Australians travelling to France should ensure that they have adequate travel insurance to cover the length of their stay. Medications that are legal in Australia may be illegal in other countries. For further information on insurance, taking medication overseas and other issues please visit www.smartraveller.gov.au/tips.

Page 4 of 5 French/Euro Exchange Rate

All rates were correct at a point in time on Monday, 05 Nov 2018.

The "Interbank Rate" does not take into account any exchange fees, while the "With 4% Margin" adds 4% to the exchange rate to simulate a typical margin that would be paid when exchanging currencies. These rates have been rounded and should not be used when calculating transactions of large value.

Currency Information and Cheat Sheet Purchasing-Power Parity

The following is a purchasing-power comparison of the Euro in France and the Australian Dollar, using the Big Mac as a common good. While it does not present a faultless comparison, it is a useful indicator of the purchasing-power of the currencies.

Big Mac Australia: $5.95 (AUD) = 3.76 Euro Big Mac France: €4.20 (EUR) = 6.65 Australian Dollars

A Big Mac in France is therefore 12% more expensive than in Australia.

This comparison is based on 2018 prices using current exchange rates. Prices may not include variations by locality or local taxes.

Currency Cheat Sheet

1 Australian Dollar (AUD) = 0.63 Euro

1 Euro (EUR) = 1.58 Australian Dollars

1 Australian Dollar (AUD) will buy 0.61 Euro

1 Euro (EUR) will cost 1.65 Australian Dollars

Notes and Coins

The legal currency of France is the Euro, which is abbreviated using the symbol \in (for example \in 100). The subunit of the Euro is the cent, of which there are 100 in every Euro. The following units of currency are the most common in France but other versions and denominations are also in circulation (including a purple \in 500 note and other nations' coins). Pictures are not to scale.
